

Tameka S. Harry

Program Director, The Arc Baltimore

Tameka S. Harry is a graduate of the University of Maryland, College Park and currently serves as the Program Director of Transition to Work Services at The Arc Baltimore. She is a passionate leader dedicated to breaking down barriers to employment for people with disabilities. Through her work, she helps create meaningful opportunities for youth and young adults with disabilities to successfully transition into the workforce.

In her role, Tameka oversees programs that provide job training, career exploration, and employment support. She partners with businesses across Baltimore to expand inclusive employment opportunities and build pathways to long-term career success. Her leadership is grounded in empowerment, collaboration, and a deep commitment to ensuring that every person has the opportunity to contribute their talents in the workplace.

Outside of her professional work, Tameka is a devoted wife and proud mother of a 12-year-old son and a 5-year-old daughter. She currently serves as the Secretary of the Lady Bearcats Cheerleading Squad, where her daughter cheers. Family is very important to her, and she enjoys spending time with her loved ones—whether cheering on her son at his games, riding bikes together, or traveling and creating lasting memories.
